As part of our commitment to combating modern slavery, we are implementing a standalone policy on anti-slavery to embody our attitude to anti-slavery practices. We have also commenced plans to introduce simple but effective training for our workforce to ensure everybody has the awareness and tools to combat modern slavery.

In order to continually deliver pragmatic solutions to the nuclear sector, we work with a range of suppliers including manufacturers and distributors. As part of our efforts to monitor and reduce the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring within our supply chains, our procedures have been reviewed to seek assurances from new and existing suppliers that they comply with anti-slavery requirements, as well as our own policies.

Our procedures are already designed to establish and assess areas of potential risk in our business and supply chains; monitor potential risk areas in our business and supply chains; reduce the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring in our business and supply chains; and provide adequate protection for whistleblowers.

This statement is made voluntarily in accordance with section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes Aquila's anti-slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year commencing 01/06/2017 and ending 31/05/2018.
